Dear [REDACTED]

STAT

Thank you and Mr. Meese for the recent invitation to Director Casey to meet with the ninety outstanding high school students selected to attend the annual Junior Statesmen Summer School in Washington, DC.

Regrettably, due to the press of official demands on Mr. Casey's time and his travel schedule, he must decline the honor of accepting your invitation. Since there have been increasing demands on our analysts' time, we have had to cut back on many of our publicly-oriented programs. We are sorry not to be able to accommodate such a fine group of young people.

Enclosed are several of our brochures which we hope will be an addition to your curriculum. We wish the Summer School program every success.

Sincerely,

STAT
